

FOR CANADIAN GRADUATES

National Occupational Therapy Certification Examination (NOTCE)

This letter is sent upon your request and only once you have registered for the NOTCE and that your school has confirmed directly with CAOT your completion of all degree requirements.

Becoming registered to work as an OT

The profession of occupational therapy is regulated in Canada through provincial regulatory organizations. In order to become registered to work, you will need to contact the provincial regulatory organization in the province(s) you wish to practice. For a contact list of the regulatory authorities in Canada please visit our web site at www.caot.ca.

The provincial regulatory organization will outline the requirements you will need to meet in order to become registered to begin work. One of the requirements you may need to meet is the successful completion of the NOTCE.

Statement of Candidacy

If you wish to become registered and begin work before you write the exam, you may be required to submit proof of your eligibility to write the NOTCE. The letter of eligibility issued by CAOT to an exam candidate is called a “Statement of Candidacy”. This letter is sent upon your request and only once you have registered for the NOTCE and that your school has confirmed directly with CAOT your completion of all degree requirements. The occupational therapy programs in Canada send the graduating class confirmations automatically to the CAOT National Office each spring and fall.
